Forgiveness flowers – with a grown up, cut out 5 flower petals, or as many to fit around your flower centre – on each petal draw a picture of how you could show that you are forgiving someone, then stick them down to create a flower.

Directions for making a kindness jar:

Gather your supplies and your family! Take turns coming up with random acts of kindness that you would like to complete as a family, and write them down on your pieces of paper. Put all of your papers in the jar, and decide on how often you are going to complete these acts of kindness. Weekly, bi-weekly, monthly? Take turns drawing an act of kindness out of the jar and completing them as a family!

TASK 1: Set yourself a challenge and learn something new – maybe you could learn to ride a bike? Maybe you could learn to skip? Or maybe you could go even further and take up a new sport?

Many people may not have had much contact over recent months – could you be the person to put a smile on their face? Your picture could be a rainbow, which has been a very visible sign of support and love over recent months, or of anything else that means something to you
